101 English Idioms (and ## Phrasal Verbs) For

Professionals

Useful Phrases to Improve Your English, Yourself, and

Your Career

By: Ryan O'Loughlin

Website: http://englishformydream.com/tips.html

Email: Hello@englishformydream.com

Twitter: @EnglishForDream

Note to readers:

Hello and welcome, Espresso English students! Thanks for downloading this report. I am glad you are serious about improving your English. If you want to get my very best English tips through email, you can visit: http://englishformydream.com/tips.html and enter your email address. I promise to give you great English content periodically.

In my five years' experience of teaching English, I've noticed that there are many phrases that we commonly use in business (and in everyday life) that are not taught in English textbooks. This book will help you speak English confidently.

Here are some quick notes about the book:

- There are 101 English phrases in the list.
- The list is in alphabetical order (from A to Z).
- The left column contains the phrase (term), the middle column has the meaning (definition), and in the right column is an example sentence (sentence). It looks like this:

Term	Definition	Sentence
Apple	A fruit	I eat apples every day.

- The phrases are a mixture of idioms, phrasal verbs (two-word verb phrases), and slang words.
- The example sentences are in a conversational setting (or tone), in a way that a native speaker might naturally speak.
- Remember, with phrasal verbs, the verb tense can change. I've changed a few tenses in the examples to show you.
- If you have any questions, you can email me at hello@englishformydream.com. I read every email and will do my best to help you.
- Also, follow me on twitter @EnglishForDream. And get my English tips here: http://englishformydream.com/tips.html.
- If you like this book, share it with your English-learning friends!

Thank you, and good luck on your English journey!

Ryan (www.englishformydream.com)

List of 101 English Idioms and Phrases for Professionals

Term	Definition	Sentence
24/7	24 hours a day, 7 days a week	The convenience store is open 24/7.
Acronym	An abbreviation usually consisting of the first letters of other words; sometimes pronounced as one word, sometimes pronounced as the letters themselves	SEC is an acronym for the "Securities and Exchange Commission."
Ahead of (behind) the curve	Ahead of (or behind) current expectations, thinking, or current trends	Jed is smart; he is ahead of the curve. Our company has to adapt; we are behind the curve a little bit.
Anticipate	To expect or predict	We are anticipating a loss this quarter.
ASAP	An acronym meaning "as soon as possible"	We need to finish the report ASAP.
Back to square one	Back to where you started; back to the beginning	The project failed, so now we are back to square one.
Back to the drawing board	When an idea doesn't work, we say this when we have to start over; similar to "back to square one"	The company rejected our proposal, so let's go back to the drawing board .

Ballpark number/figure	An estimation of a number	"Can you please give me a ballpark figure how much it will cost?"
Behind the scenes	Out of sight from the public, in secret	John's coworkers did a lot of work behind the scenes , but John got all the credit for the project.
Blue chip stocks	Giant stocks of companies with solid, great reputations	Apple and Microsoft are blue chip stocks.
Boneheaded move	A stupid action or idea	Wearing sneakers to the job interview was a boneheaded move!
Bookworm	Someone who loves to read books	Megan is a bookworm; she's read every Harry Potter book three times.
Brainstorm	Thinking about new ideas, usually in a group setting	We are brainstorming ways to get new customers.
Break-even	To earn as much money as you've spent; when revenues equal cost	The company broke- even last quarter; it neither gained nor lost money.
Bucks	Slang term for U.S. dollars	The ticket costs 100 bucks.
Burn the candle at both ends	To work so hard that you are exhausted, usually going to bed very late and getting up very early	She has been burning the candle at both ends by working and going to school.

Burn the midnight oil	To stay awake at night to	John has been burning
	work or study	the midnight oil preparing for his exam.
Buy time	To waste time or delay for	Our project is not something; to stall	finished yet. We need to buy some time to finish and to make our client
		happy.
Call it a day	To finish something, end the	We did a lot of work business day, or go home	today. Let's call it a day.
Carte blanche	Complete freedom to act,	The CEO has carte
	make decisions, or do	blanche over all business as you think is right	business decisions.
Cash cow	A business (or product) that	That restaurant is such a
	makes a lot of profit	cash cow; it's crowded almost every night.
Catch (someone) off	To make someone surprised	The difficult interview
guard	or confused	question caught her off guard.
Catch up	To meet with a person after	"Hey, Mary. It's so good you haven't seen or spoken	to see you again. I have to them in a long time	a meeting now but why don't we catch up over coffee later today?"
Come up short	To fail to meet someone's	The Yankees came up expectations	short this year by losing
	— • • • • • • •	lots of easy games.
Corner the market	To dominate the market	Microsoft has been trying to corner the computer market for years.

Cut agains and	To take about suits in and an to Cut corners	To take shortcuts in order to	The boss doesn't want save effort or money; to be	to hire employees who lazy	cut corners.
Cut one's losses	To withdraw from a losing	The project is failing, so situation; to give up	let's cut our losses and move on.
Draw a blank	To forget something you	"What is his name? I usually know; to not say	know it, but I am
	anything	drawing a blank right
	,	now."
Drop (someone) a line	To call someone or contact	"I am out of the office
	someone	this week, but drop me a line next week and we can talk."
Facts and figures	Precise details/data, usually	The presentation had a
0	with graphs or pictures or	lot of facts and figures charts	which made our decision easier.
Far-off	Not near one's expectations	He wants to do the or agreement	work for $10,000. We or agreement	want can only afford to pay him $2,000. Our numbers are too far-off ,
		so we cannot do business with him.
Fifty-fifty (50/50)	When something is divided in	We formed a half or split between two	partnership and split the people; 50% for one person	profits fifty-fifty. and 50% for the other person
Follow through (with	To keep a promise; to	He did not follow something)	execute, deliver, or provide a	through with his result	promises.

Game plan	A strategy or plan	We need a game plan to launch our new product.
Get back (to someone)	To reply or respond to someone, usually through phone or email communication	"I am away from my desk now. I will get back to you as soon as I can."
Get the ball rolling	To start or begin something, like a meeting, project, etc.	We really need to get the ball rolling on our new project.
Give-and-take	To have mutual concessions; to communicate and compromise	Negotiation is a game of give-and-take.
Go broke	To lose all of your money	She will go broke if she keeps spending her money on fancy cars and trips.
Go for broke	To risk everything, usually with full effort [different from "go broke"]	The team was down by five runs in the ninth inning, so they went for broke and won the baseball game.
Go the extra mile	To go above and beyond one's expectations, to do more than required	Our customer service representatives go the extra mile to satisfy our customers.
Goose egg	Slang for the number zero (0)	"Why is there a goose egg in our sales column?" asked the manager.
Grab a bite to eat	To eat food, usually with another person	Let's go grab a bite to eat, I'm starving.

Grab a seat	To take a seat; to sit down	"Welcome. Grab a seat and let's talk."
Gray/Grey area	Something that is not easily defined or categorized	Our lawyers are not sure if this strategy is legal or not. They said it's a gray area.
Happy hour	A period of the day at a bar or restaurant when drinks and food are discounted; Happy hours usually occur in the afternoon or evening	"Care to join me for happy hour after work today?"
Have a ball	To have fun, to enjoy oneself	l have a ball every time we do a product launch.
Have a blast	To have fun; to enjoy oneself; same meaning as "have a ball"	I had a blast at the company picnic.
Have deep pockets	To be very rich	My uncle has deep pockets so he gave me a generous Christmas present.
Hush money	Money paid to someone to keep embarrassing information a secret	The CEO paid his workers some hush money to not talk about the scandal.
In the black	Profitable; making money	Our company is in the black this quarter, so all of our jobs are safe.
In the long run	In the long term, in the future, extending over a long period of time	Taking care of customers is a good strategy in the long run.

In the red	Not profitable. Losing manage	Codly our odvortising
In the red	Not profitable; losing money	Sadly, our advertising
	[opposite of in the black]	department is in the red this quarter.
In the short run	In the short term	In the short run, eating
	[opposite of in the long run]	junk food tastes good,
		but in the long run, it's unhealthy.
In the weeds	Slang used in the restaurant	The staff in the kitchen industry; when workers are	is really in the weeds really busy or backed-up; or	and our customers are having a difficult time at work	getting angry.
Kill time	To do something while	My colleague's train was waiting for someone	delayed, so I killed time
		by reading a book.
Kill two birds with one	To do two things at once; to	While I am in Florida on stone	solve two problems at one	business, I can kill two time	birds with one stone by working on business and checking out retirement homes for my mother.
Look forward to	To await excitedly	I look forward to meeting you.
Look out for	To watch or expect	When climbing a something, usually with	mountain, look out for
	caution	falling rocks.
Loophole	When something in the law is	Many companies use unclear not certain; a	tax loopholes to save technicality	money on taxes.
Lose one's shirt	To lose lots of money, usually	He lost his shirt in the
	in the stock market	1987 stock market crash.

Make a killing	To make a lot of money	Apple seems to always make a killing on their new iPhone launches.
Meet-and-greet	An event (usually with food	I am going to the meet- and drink) where people	and-greet tomorrow at meet each other	the Hilton Hotel.
Morning person	Someone who loves to get up	l am not a morning
	early	person; I love sleeping
	[usually NOT a night owl]	as much as I can.
Night owl	Someone who stays up late	My neighbor is a night
	[usually NOT a morning	owl; it seems like he person]	never sleeps!
No brainer	An easy decision; so easy, it's	Going with a lower-cost
	like you don't even have to	firm who does better
	think about it	work is a no brainer.
On par with	Equal to or comparable with	The service at this small
(something)	something else	hotel is on par with the service at a five-star hotel.
On point	Slang meaning perfect,	The burgers at this delicious, well-done	restaurant are on point.
Pay dividends	To get a reward in the long	Doing the hard work
	term	now will pay dividends
		in the future.
Pie chart	A graph in the shape of a	The pie chart shows circle (like a pie) that shows	that we spend 20% of percentages	our budget on research and development.
Pinch pennies	To be really frugal or cheap	My neighbor lost her job
		so now she has to pinch pennies until she finds a new one.

Play phone tag	When you try to call someone and leave a voicemail (message), and they call you back and leave a voicemail, and you can't get in touch with them easily	"We have been trying to speak on the phone for a week now. We are playing phone tag. "
Price hike	An increase in price	Did you notice the price hike in bus fare these days?
Pull a fast one	To trick someone or to lie/deceive someone	She pulled a fast one by saying she was sick when really she just wanted to relax at home.
Put (someone) on the spot	To ask an uncomfortable or surprising question to someone	The reporter put him on the spot by asking him about his recent divorce.
Right hand man	A helper or chief assistant	Joe Biden is President Obama's right hand man.
Sharing is caring	When you share something, you care about the other person	I bought a cake and shared it with my friends. Sharing is caring!
Skyrocket	To increase rapidly	Our sales skyrocketed after we were mentioned in the newspaper.
Slow and steady wins the race	This saying means that consistent effort over time is better than a lot of effort in the beginning and small or no effort later	Our competitor is ahead of us now, but they will lose focus. Slow and steady wins the race.

Small talk	Polite talk, about trivial things	The owner of the shop like the weather, in social	always makes small talk occasions	with her customers.
Snake oil salesman	Someone who sells fraudulent	I think that person is lying
	(fake/bad) goods or	about how his new health information	product can cure my disease. He sounds like a Cold out	When all units quailable for	snake oil salesman.
Sold out	When all units available for	The tickets for the event
	sale have been sold	sold out in less than one
	Constant of	hour.
Stone cold	Completely	I was stone cold serious
		about the business idea,
		but all my friends
		thought I was joking.
Stretch (one's) budget	To make one's budget last	"How can our company
	longer than expected	stretch its advertising budget? Our costs are really high right now."
Suck up	To treat your superiors in a	Sucking up is not a good
	good way, solely for your own	way to get a promotion;
	advantage or gain	hard work is.
Swamped	Extremely busy	I apologize for the delay; I've been swamped with work.
Sweep (something)	To hide something	The president is trying under the rug	embarrassing that you don't	to sweep this scandal
	want others to know about	under the rug.
Take a bath	Slang term meaning "to lose	l took a $100,000 bath
	money"	on that stock when it crashed.

Take a hike	To leave: get out of ono's	"I am angry at your
	To leave; get out of one's	• • •
	face; get away	insults towards me. Go
.		take a hike."
Take a turn for the	When things are OK, or bad,	The economy just took
worse	and suddenly get worse	a turn for the worse.
Take off	Slang term meaning "to go	The great idea took off
	fast" or to grow quickly	and saved our company
		from bankruptcy.
The long and short of	In summary	"The long and short of it		it is that we lost our best customer."
Tie up loose ends	To tidy up or finish something	Before resigning from completely, even the minor	the company, he tied up details	loose ends by apologizing to everyone.
To die for	Excellent, extremely good	The food here is to die for.
Touch base	To contact and communicate;	Let's touch base next to get in touch	week.
Tough cookie	A person who is difficult to	Some say that Steve
	work with; an unpleasant	Jobs was a tough
	person; someone who is not	cookie.
	hurt easily
Under the table	Cash payment for wages that	Many illegal immigrants are not officially reported and	get paid under the
	is not taxed by the	table.
	government
Under wraps	To hide something or to	The terms of the new
•	control something	contract are under wraps
		until further notice.

Underwater	When an asset (like a home)	His mortgage is has more debt than its market value	underwater , he bought his house for $200,000
	market value	but now it's worth only
		, $140,000.
Wear down	To make an opponent tired or	She wore down her exhausted	opponent until he gave up.
Wear out one's	To stay too long at an event;	"I accidentally insulted
welcome	to become unpopular after	the host of the party; I
	meeting someone	think I've worn out my
		welcome."
Wrap up	To finish something, to	The presentation is conclude something; to get to	going too long; I hope
	the end of something	he wraps it up soon.
Zone out	To fall asleep or to not pay	"What did you say?
	attention to someone or	Sorry, I zoned out ."
	something

Great job! Remember to look at this sheet often to improve your English vocabulary. If you have any questions, please ask me at hello@englishformydream.com and sign up for tips to improve your English at www.englishformydream.com/tips.html.